

TO: 6th NASA Microgravity Environment Interpretation Tutorial Attendees

FROM: Kenol Jules / NASA
Principal Investigator Microgravity Services (PIMS) Project Scientist

DATE: March 4th, 2003

SUBJECT: Welcome

Dear Colleagues,

It is my pleasure to welcome you all to the NASA 6th annual Microgravity Environment Interpretation Tutorial (MEIT). It is my hope that you will find the tutorial very beneficial to your educational enrichment. This class is made up of participants with a rich and diverse background in microgravity such as: life science, fluid physics, combustion, biotech, material, payload developers and so on. I urge you to take the opportunity, while you are here, to get to know your colleagues for I'm sure you will learn a lot from each other expertise through such cross-disciplines interaction.

The Principal Investigator Microgravity Services (PIMS) staff is here to assist you, in case you have any problems or questions, while you are here attending this tutorial.

Again, I wish you all an enjoyable stay in Cleveland.

Kenol Jules

PIMS Project Scientist
NASA Glenn Research Center